A FURTHER INSTALLMENT WITH IMPECCABLE PROVENANCE FROM THE ICONIC AND MAGNIFICENT FOX CELLAR

The Fox Cellar, one of the most extensive private collections in the world, was the source of two blockbuster single-owner HDH auctions, both of which achieved numerous record prices.

All wines were acquired by the owner upon initial release, or from HDH auctions. The owner has provided us with original receipts for virtually every bottle in the offering. Since purchase, all wines remain in owc and have been stored in a highly customized underground cellar which maintains ideal conditions.

We are honored to continue working with this amazing gentleman.

DOM PERIGNON

In the 17th century, the monk Dom Pierre Pérignon nurtured an ambition to create "the best wine in the world." This bold and visionary mind even went as far as to earn himself a place at the table of the Sun King, who was won over by the quality of his wine. Dom Pérignon vintages are produced using the best grapes on the estate. Each one is a unique creation with a style and an identity which are unique to its vintage: it is down to the Chef de Cave to decide if the vintage will be declared. Dom Pérignon's longtime Chef de Caves Richard Geoffroy is one of the most provocative figures in Champagne. For years, Geoffroy has quietly pushed the envelope at Dom Pérignon with a series of bold wines that have redefined what a Champagne grande marque is and can be.

DOMAINE WILLIAM FEVRE

No trip to Chablis, figuratively or literally, would be complete without a visit to William Fèvre, a producer who combines quantity and quality, in no small part thanks to the talent of head winemaker Didier Séguier. He was appointed technical director of William Fèvre in 1998 after the Domaine was acquired by the champagne house, Joseph Henriot. Since then, the wines have become mineral-driven with a greater focus on terroir. The estate has been organic since 2006 and started biodynamic trials in 2010 to achieve wines with greater purity and excellent fruit character. These wines are exhilarating and rejuvenating while showing just how important having a maestro, like Didier Séguier, in the winery can be to the longevity and quality of a wine.

LOUIS LATOUR

Louis Latour is one of the most highly-respected names in Burgundy, with a reputation for quality and tradition. The Latour family has been producing wine in the Côte de Beaune since the early 1700s, and current proprietor Louis-Fabrice is the seventh Louis Latour to preside over the firm. While Latour makes lovely reds, its reputation for excellence comes from its white wines. Latour's range of whites represents some of the finest examples of white Burgundy. The Chevalier-Montrachet is particularly exciting, with its rich, opulent style and texture. The Corton-Charlemagne consistently lives up to its Grand Cru status and has incredible longevity.

CHAPOUTIER

While the Chapoutier firm has a long history in the Rhône Valley dating back to the early 1800s, the estate underwent a dramatic revitalization in the late 1980s with the accession of Michel Chapoutier as head winemaker. Michel approached his new role with a goal of emphasizing the character of the soil and vines, and reducing any traces of the winemaker's intervention to a minimum. According to Parker, "...this firm has become one of the reference points for nearly all the Rhône Valley appellations...The single-vineyard offerings are as good as Rhône Valley wines can be." SCREAMING EAGLE

Since its inaugural vintage in 1992, Screaming Eagle has quickly earned a reputation as the quintessential California Cult Cabernet. The team at Screaming Eagle employs particularly draconian harvesting and winemaking practices in order to ensure the utmost quality, deeming only a miniscule percentage of the estate's 57-acre harvest fit to go into the 500-850 cases produced each year. The results speak for themselves; according to Parker, "There is an unbelievable purity to these wines, as well as phenomenal concentration and richness, yet in no sense are they heavy..." Robert Parker Jr., The World's Greatest Wine Estates

SINE QUA NON

The legendary Manfred Krankl and his wife, Elaine, started Sine Qua Non in 1994 with the goal of using Rhône varietals to produce wine that is both distinctive and delicious. Their small-scale, at times eccentric approach to winemaking certainly achieves this task, culminating in wines that are as unique as the names on their labels. "No one works as hard or is as maniacal about a vineyard's viticulture and winemaking as Manfred Krankl. Take that, add in exceptional talent, humility, top-notch vineyards, and I believe I understand the fundamentals of why these wines are so special." Robert Parker's Wine Advocate #172, August 2007

AN EXCEPTIONAL ASSORTMENT DIRECT FROM THE CELLARS OF KRUG

All Wines With Impeccable Provenance, Having Been Sent Directly from Krug

One of the principles of Champagne is that at its true essence, it is about pleasure itself. The history of Krug illustrates that philosophy and starts with its founder: Joseph Krug. A non-conformist whose dream was to offer the best Champagne he could create every single year, regardless of the harvest and vintage, Joseph Krug founded this house in 1843. Today, Olivier Krug, the sixth generation of his family to head this house as well as Cellar Master Eric Lebel, hold true to the original philosophy of paying close attention to a vineyard's character, respecting each plot of vines, and building an extensive library of reserve wines. These are the pillars that make an icon like Krug Grande Cuvée or the visionary Krug Clos du Mesnil one of the first single-vineyard expressions of Champagne. Being as close to the wine as possible and selecting grapes based on individual plots is so closely tied to Krug, it is only fair to say that this Champagne House is the only one to capture the essence of each unique plot in order to create world-renown wines.

TOP PRODUCERS FROM AROUND THE WORLD TO BENEFIT THE DAVID G. MCLONE FOUNDATION AND CHILDREN WITH SPINA BIFIDA

All wines were Purchased on Release or from HDH and Removed from Ideal Storage

Supporting children with Spina Bifida has been important to all of us at HDH. We support Dr. McLone and his Foundation as they provide assistance and focus on independence for so many young people impacted by Spina Bifida.

All of the proceeds from this consignment will go directly to the David G. McLone Foundation

LETTER FROM DR. DAVID MCLONE

On behalf of our Board of Directors at The David G. McLone Foundation, I would like to thank Hart Davis Hart Wine Co. for believing in our mission and joining in our efforts to promote independence and opportunities for children and young adults with Spina Bifida and other chronic neurological disabilities.

Nearly 20 years ago, we began to think about what lies ahead for the children I treated, who are now young adults. We know that 80% will graduate high school, 50% will attend college, and several will earn advanced degrees. These are impressive numbers, however only 14% will have full employment and 76% of those older than 30 years will still live with their parents, parents who are aging and will soon be unable to care for these disabled young adults. For a variety of reasons, these young adults have failed to acquire the skills needed to live independently. How can we improve the possibility that they will make the transition into independent lives?

The "magic" of childhood lies in experiences. It is the simple, but profoundly important moments that are frequently out of reach for many children because of the isolation imposed by their condition. We have documented that our camping program provides opportunities that are safe and supportive for these children and young adults and at the same time create an environment that teaches those activities that allow independent living. We work to establish a network of care through two successful model programs such as housing and retreats/camping. These initiatives are structured to provide habilitation, support services and resources to families and their children.

The generosity of today's proceeds will enable us to operate our camp, a year-round youth center. The facility is utilized for summer camps, retreats, and to provide supportive education programs for families and medical personnel. We strive to not only establish a strong foundation, but also to foster a way of life that provides these children with the opportunity to grow and become successful, independent adults.

Again, I want to thank you for the opportunity to spread our cause. 100% of the funds raised go toward helping those afflicted with Spina Bifida.
