CLASSIC RIOJA AND AN OUTSTANDING ENCYCLOPEDIA OF UNICO FROM THE CELLAR OF A KNOWLEDGEABLE COLLECTOR AND REPEAT CONSIGNOR

Most Purchased Directly from the Winery and the Balance from Established Merchants and Recently Removed from a Cool, Underground Cellar That Maintains a Temperature of 54°F and 50% Humidity

VEGA SICILIA

A two-hour drive north of Madrid will reveal a winery and a wine that among the most highly regarded - and unusual - on the planet. Vega Sicilia is a 146-year-old winery, owned by the Alavarez family since 1982, they produced two wines: Unico and Valbuena 5°. The Unico is where the mystery lies. Unico is fermented in wooden vats with malolactics taking place in oak vessels. It then spends five years in barrels, 60% French and 40% American, before spending another 3 years in bottles. This process, along with Tempranillo's ability to evolve and last longer than Cabernet while aging in barrels, makes Unico a rich, opulent, majestic wine that has the acidity to slice through all the fruit layers and produce remarkably balanced wines. Unico is a wine that needs time though, and seeing how it matures through the years is a true masterpiece.

THE COLLECTION OF MICHAEL AND CANDACE OLANDER

Wines removed from a state-of-the-art, purpose-built cellar; with ideal overall conditions maintaining 55°F and 70% humidity

I have been working with Michael for the past 25 years. He assembled a remarkable collection, spanning top wine-making regions, that reflects his passion for wine. Wines were largely purchased on release, with a few older vintages sourced from auction and reputable retailers. With a broad eye, he sought out the greats from France, America, Italy and beyond. His focus was always on quality and provenance which showed in his precision with the storage and care of the collection. We are honored to offer this group.

GUIGAL

The Guigal firm was founded in 1946, and has rapidly grown into one of the foremost leaders of Rhône Valley wines. Though production exponentially since the firm's early days, the quality of Guigal's wines has never suffered. Notoriously late harvests, extremely low yields and minimal intervention in the winery culminate in wines that are stunningly fragrant and intense. Robert Parker asserts: "...there is no winemaker on planet Earth who has produced so many compelling wines irrespective of vintage conditions as Marcel Guigal." The World's Greatest Wine Estates

GAJA

Angelo Gaja is known internationally as one the greatest winemakers in Italy and the world. Held by many as the key leader responsible for the quality revolution in Italian winemaking, Gaja spearheaded innovations including crop-size reduction, the use of small 225-liter French barriques for aging, and the vinification of single-vineyard wines. His wines are often remarkably opulent yet elegant, and are some of the most profound expressions of Piedmont terroir.

ORNELLAIA

Nearly all oenophiles have heard of the Antinori family, but while the patriarch of the family, Piero Antinori, is given due credit to modernizing Italian wine and helping to create Super Tuscans, his younger brother Lodovico must be given respect as well for his contributions. Lodovico founded Ornellaia in 1981, planted Bordeaux varietals, and hired Hungarian winemaker Tibor Gal to produce the first vintage in 1985. He managed to make a superb wine to compete with his brother's wines and his cousin Nicolo Incisa's, of Tenuta San Guido fame. Currently owned by the Frescobaldi family, Axel Heinz oversees the winemaking and describes his wine as, "More immediate, opulent, and extrovert than a typical Médoc, but with the necessary freshness and balance that is essential for any fine wine." These qualities come from the terroir of Bolgheri as the vines are high in altitude and close to the Tyrrhenian Sea. This location moderates temperatures significantly while well-drained volcanic soils ideal for Cabernet Sauvignon and sandy-clay soils ideal for Merlot give this wine precision and vibrancy to be aged for decades.

ARAUJO ESTATE

The Eisele Vineyard was first planted over 125 years ago, and has been producing some of California's most intensely flavored and ageworthy Cabernet Sauvignons since 1971. The Araujo family purchased the vineyard's 38 acres in 1990, and have since exclusively devoted its fruit to their estate-bottled wines, which are known for their remarkably defined flavors, great complexity and depth. The Pinault family, owners of Château Latour, recently purchased Araujo in 2013, and is expected to continue the great legacy of the estate and its special terroir.

BOND WINERY

Bond Winery represents a one-of-a-kind Grand Cru concept in Napa Valley. It is based on making wine in the Burgundian way, expressing different terroirs with one variety: Cabernet Sauvignon. Bond's existing top five crus, Melbury, Pluribus, Quella, St. Eden, and Vecina are located apart from each other around Napa Valley. Attention to detail in the vineyard is paramount, as the team could pass through the vineyard as many as 15 times to pick fruit in one harvest! The fruit from each site is vinified separately and the wines express the different terroirs profoundly and characteristically. Bill Harlan, the owner of Bond, and winemaker Bob Levy, gives a canvas to these specific vineyards, so that each one paints a different picture of the terroir of Napa Valley with a grape that is perennially viewed as monotone within this region. As a result, these wines are built to age with their powerful and profuse flavors that remind us Bill Harlan has ended up with a stable of thoroughbreds in his cellar.

CAYMUS VINEYARDS

Located in Rutherford, the land which would become Caymus Vineyards, has been owned and farmed since the 1940's by the Wagner Family. In 1972 at the age of 19, Chuck Wagner joined his parents Charlie and Lorna in founding Caymus Vineyards with its first vintage of Cabernet Sauvignon. In 1975, the Wagner's produced their first Caymus Special Selection made from their outstanding Cabernet Sauvignon lots. Nowadays, Caymus remains very much a family run operation, with Chuck Wagner's son, Joseph, now increasingly involved in the business. He upholds their philosophy of increased hang time of grapes, which develops suppleness, increases color, and matures tannins all of which leads to wines that are approachable in youth as well as having a high tendency to age beautifully. With endless praise and such high-quality fruit, few wineries in the world can boast such an enviable record of consistent excellence as that of Caymus.

DOMINUS

Christian Moueix founded Dominus with the goal of challenging his Old World assumptions about Californian wine. While the estate's operation practices mirror those of Bordeaux in terms of the extraordinary work done in the vineyard, the winemaking process and the style, Moueix and his all-star team demonstrate the utmost respect for their special Napa Valley terroir. The resulting wines epitomize complexity, balance and elegance, integrating Napa terroir with Bordelaise style.

HARLAN ESTATE

Since its first bottling in 1990, Harlan Estate has gradually lived up to its founder's goal of creating a Californian "First Growth." Known for their almost fanatical growing practices, the team at Harlan cultivates low-vigor vines that produce only a select amount of sumptuous, concentrated berries. Consistently praising the estate as one of the finest in the U.S., Robert Parker proclaims: "The wine from Harlan Estate possesses all the elements of greatness— individuality, power combined with elegance, extraordinary complexity, remarkable aging potential and compelling richness without ponderousness." JOSEPH PHELPS

One of the most prominent names in the Napa Valley, Joseph Phelps Vineyards was founded in and has remained family owned since 1973. The Phelps family maintains a deep respect for the terroir, and aims to uphold or enhance the natural vineyard environment and its expression in their wines through biodynamic practices. Their proprietary red, Insignia, is arguably one of California's greatest and most opulent wines.

SHAFFER VINEYARDS

Shafer is known for creating wines that are unapologetically big and bold. With over 35 years' experience, the Shafer family's winemaking practices are dictated not by the traditional standards of grape-growing, but by what their fruit demands. The estate's most celebrated wine, the Hillside Select Cabernet Sauvignon, comes from Shafer's rugged hillside vineyards, and embodies the quintessential richness and suppleness found in wines from the Stags Leap District. Robert Parker calls the Hillside Select "...one of the most compelling Cabernets in the world." The World's Greatest Wine Estates

A RARE AND ENTICING OFFERING OF BOURBON AND RYE FROM AN ESTEEMED WHISKEY COLLECTOR

The depth and breadth of this monumental whiskey collection is not only a testament to the man who spent decades acquiring these bottles but also shines a spotlight on the historical context of American bourbon and rye.

Whereas fine wine is released in multiple markets or through mailing lists, some of these whiskeys were released only in one locality, one country, or once and never again. This is a collection that took time, patience, and being at the right place at the right time. Such a collection means that this collector was obtaining these bottles before the popularity of bourbon and rye skyrocketed because he had the foresight to understand the quality in these whiskeys and how underappreciated they were.
